

HARVARD COLLEGE ALLIANCE FOR AFRICA

Harvard College Alliance for Africa (HCAA) works with both local African partner agencies and international organizations to implement sustainable programs for education in Africa's remote rural areas and urban slums. HCAA's goal is to enable African communities and families to support HIV/AIDS orphans and other vulnerable children through our initiatives which will ensure the underprivileged an improved quality of life.

HCAA is currently working in Tanzania, Uganda, and South Africa. Our supported sites include:

- Schools
- Orphanages
- Vocational Training Centers
- Feeding Programs

HCAA achieves its aims by:

- Sending an envoy of volunteers to Africa to visit HCAA-sponsored programs at least once annually.
- Collecting books, computers, bikes, and other appropriate items for donation to our initiatives.
- Pursuing ongoing fundraising campaigns.

HCAA volunteers are encouraged to contribute to the success of our efforts in Africa throughout their college career and beyond.
